Nixon Aide Sees Sound Economy

Inflation Halt, No Recession

WASHINGTON (AP) — Paul W. McCracken, chairman of President Nixon's council of Economic Advisors, says the administration probably will act to ease the tight monetary policies established to cool down the economy.

"Clearly, a continuation through 1970 of the rather restrictive policies that we had in 1969 would not be consistent with the outlook that we indicated" in the President's economic report, McCracken said Sunday.

McCracken joined other government economists over the weekend in declaring the administration has succeeded in

DOCTORS, CLINICS GET MILLIONS IN MEDICARE

Top AMA Official Included

There's No Indication Of Irregularities

WASHINGTON (AP) — Doctors at two clinics in Texas and California received medicare payments totaling about $1 million for each group in a single year, a Senate report shows.

A top official of the American Medical Association was among the doctors at one of the clinics at Palo Alto, Calif.

The Scott and White Clinic at Temple, Tex., received $1.3 million in medicare payments for its 107 doctors in 1968 for the largest group billing listed under medicare.

The Palo Alto Medical Clinic got $915,000 the same year for 130 doctors. Dr. Richard S. Wilbur, who is now the AMA's second-highest staff official, was a partner in the Palo Alto clinic at that time.

The AMA was a fierce foe of medicare when it was passed four years ago as the federal health program for the elderly.

The Senate Finance Committee's report listed at least $100 million in medicare and medicaid bracket.

The others went to hospital groups of doctors, two of them in New York City.

There was no indication of irregularity in the payments to any of the clinics. Officials said joint payments to medical groups usually are higher because of the number of doctors involved.

The report also said 68 individual doctors were paid at least $100,000 a year by medicare.

Florida led with 37, more than all the other states together.

At least 36 other doctors got $100,000 from medicare, the health program for the poor, New York, California and Michigan topped this list.

The Senate report kept the names secret and listed the doctors and clinic groups only by confidential code numbers, such as "YY20677Y."

However, the clinics were identified by the Associated Press through government sources and official records.

Socialized Medicine On Way?

Many Persons Can't Afford Soaring Costs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress will face great pressure to turn medicare and medicaid into some form of national health insurance unless the rapid increase in medical costs is halted, a Senate staff report says.

In a report released Sunday after a year of work, the Finance Committee staff recommends establishing maximum fees for doctors under the two big government programs as one way of slowing health expenses.

COSTS SOARING

"The charges for adequate nongovernment health insurance are rising to levels beyond the financial capacity of millions of hardworking Americans," the report said.

If these are not slowed, the staff said, "Congress may reasonably anticipate increased pressures upon it to extend the medicare and medicaid programs to encompass large segments of the population not now covered"—in other words, some kind of national health insurance.

The committee has not endorsed the report specifically. However, it was praised by Chairman Russell B. Long, D-La., and Sen. John J. Williams of Delaware, senior Republican member.

Both said they were confident at least some of the recommendations would be adopted by Congress this year.

The staff proposals included suggestions for reducing charges by physicians, hospitals and nursing homes, and for instituting far more effective controls by the Health, Education and Welfare Department.

The staff said medicare, which covers all persons over 65, now costs $8.3 billion a year.

Medicaid, designed to aid those on welfare and other poor persons, costs $5.5 billion yearly.

Both exceed original estimates, the report said.

It asserted "the key to making the present health care system workable is the physical

Catholic School May Shut Down

St. Basil's At South Haven Reports Big Deficit

SOUTH HAVEN — The board of education at St. Basil Catholic school has recommended that the elementary school close at the end of the current year in light of continuing financial difficulties.

Parishioners of the church were informed of the recommendation Sunday during worship services.

The recommendation has been made to the Parent's Council of the church which will make the final decision.

SURVEY PLANNED

The Parent's Council announced that it is conducting "a meaningful survey" of the congregation before making a decision. The council hopes to be able to make a decision by April 1.

A meeting of the congregation has been scheduled for Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. to discuss the recommendation.

St. Basil's, which was founded in 1949, has an enrollment of 200 students in grades one through eight.

Deputies said the incident was reported by the Animal Friends Humane Society of Allegan county. During the initial investigation, at a farm on 120th Avenue and 57th Street, 1½ miles south of Fennville, deputies found seven horses and three dogs without food and water. In one stall, deputies also found a dead colt.

Deputies said the horses were in such bad shape they could not eat. A short time later, deputies also found three other dogs in another building. One of the dogs was dead. Deputies said the dogs included a German Shepherd, a Poodle and an Afghan hound. The other dogs' breeds could not be immediately determined because of their condition.

The dogs were all turned over to the Humane Society and the horses were moved to other farms in the area.

Oil-Polluted Lake Erie Burns

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Water pollution became a burning issue in suburban Euclid over the weekend as fires fueled by oil on the surface of Lake Erie sent flames shooting into the air two nights in a row.

Firemen said the oil apparently flowed into the lake in a storm sewer and was set afire by teen-agers.

Completing Our Waterfront

Last week the St. Joseph Planning Commission in reviewing possible uses for the strip of land between the harbor line and the bluff indicated first consideration would be given to commercial development.

The Urban Renewal program cleared the section of older buildings occupying parts of the strip and paid for most of a hefty bill to raising its appearance to its presently very acceptable condition.

Under UR zoning regulations, the city, as owner of the strip, has the choice of commercializing it or holding it in a residential status. The latter includes parks.

The Commission informally expressed the view that St. Joseph already has park areas sufficient to that purpose. More accurately, in the words of one member, the city is "park poor."

Though he used the phrase in the sense of what it costs to maintain the parks, this poverty designation can be extended beyond his context.

City hall has been balancing a growing budget in recent years by a number of hat tricks, one of which has been valuation increases in the tax assessment roll.

This snowball has just about reached the bottom of the hill.

The chance for the city to increase its land area carrying a high valuation, that is, commercial or industrial property is remote.

Thus keeping the wolf from the door requires one of two choices, either a new tax source (a city income tax) or new valuation sources.

Commercializing this waterfront strip will not meet that long run requirement but it can help.

Opening the strip to uses compatible with the surrounding ground makes sense.

No one would suggest a car wash or an asphalt mixing plant but office buildings or restaurants, possibly an apartment would meet the compatibility requirement.

A decent looking structure housing a business with a fair chance of making a go of it would benefit the entire town.

Developing the waterfront strip now would set the proper pace come the day when Silver Beach may no longer be an entertainment sector.

LBJ vs. Fullbright

Last Friday night the Columbia Broadcasting System staged one of the best television performances of this and of many preceding seasons.

It was the second in a series of taped interviews between Walter Cronkite, one of the best newsmen in the business, whatever the medium may be and Lyndon B. Johnson our former President.

Nary a commercial interrupted this question and answer format and the discussion bored in on the most puzzling question of the 1960s, namely, how did Uncle Sam become entangled in Viet Nam.

The conversation piece far surpassed the first interview televised late in '69 in which the ex-President delivered the highly questionable opinion that if Humphrey had stuck to the Administration all the way he would have defeated Nixon.

Friday's commentary on the Gulf of Tonkin resolution and its aftermath goes a long way toward explaining why J. William Fulbright, chairman of the Senate's Foreign Relations Committee, behaves as he does.

In 1967 Fulbright instigated a series of Committee investigations into the conduct of the war, which in their effect designed for public consumption, broadly hinted that LBJ had hornswoggled Congress into adopting the Tonkin resolution.

He did not go so far as to say Johnson had misrepresented the situation to obtain the resolution, but that the White House was pursuing a course never contemplated by the resolution nor by the widest interpretation of its language within its context.

This started the hawks vs. the doves controversy within the Democratic party which caused Johnson to decide against running for re-election and which helped immeasurably to give Nixon the victory.

Friday night Johnson stated categorically that he and his assistants fully briefed Fulbright and the latter's colleagues on the Tonkin incident and what might reasonably be expected from the Communists in Southeast Asia.

He shied from seeking a Congressional declaration of war, he added, because of its possible effect on Russia and Red China under secret treaty obligations coming to North Viet Nam's assistance if the U.S. formally put itself in a war making position. Johnson said he knew of no such treaties but was aware of the Communist bloc having hidden agreements between its members.

The Tonkin resolution similar to Truman's declaring a police action against North Korea in 1950, Johnson felt to be a safer diplomatic gambit.

Fulbright, he emphasized, knew the full story and what Johnson intended to do.

The Senator replied to reporters the instant the CBS studio cameras switched to another program in these words:

"It never occurred to me that the President of the United States would lie to members of the Senate. I was completely taken in as was the whole Senate."

He also went on to say he later became convinced that the Navy, under White House and South Vietnamese direction engineered the Tonkin attack. Further he noted only one ship was actually assaulted.

It may well be years before the historians can sift the wheat from the chaff in this dispute.

Johnson obviously speaks from the chagrin of repudiation by his own party or substantial elements of it, but if the reader will forgive a weak pun, Fulbright is just too fullsome for credibility.

He and his cronies aptly fall into what LBJ noted that "when the going got rough, Fulbright and others started looking for the cellar." In simple English what Johnson means is that what in 1964 appealed to the Democratic high command as good political fodder turned into a very sour mash and by '67 somebody decided it was time to jump ship.

Fulbright's latest maneuver to subpoena U.S. military personnel in Viet Nam for committee hearings is the latest in this political wiggling to find, if possible, an issue to prop up his party in this year's Congressional elections.

LBJ was never known for excessive frankness. He was a master in dropping words capable of being taken in several ways.

But as between him and Fulbright on the Tonkin resolution, it's LBJ all the way.

The ancient Incas had well organized welfare programs. Orphans, the aged, and the sick drew generous food supplies from government storehouses, says the National Geographic Society's new book, "Discovering Man's Past in the Americas."

The average grocery store of 1940 carried about a thousand food items. Today's supermarket offers 8,000 times, and more than half weren't available even a decade ago.

Both as a personality and a poet, Amy Lowell is a celebrated figure in American literature.

She was a leader in the poetry movement known as imagism, which was adopted about 1910 by a number of English and American poets who followed the direction of Ezra Pound. The movement was primarily a reaction against the stylized form of Georgian verse. Imagist poets made short, pointed observations on a single radically original metaphor.

Peril At Drive-In

Not all the trials and tribulations at a drive-in movie take place on the screen. Sometimes, misfortune also befalls a member of the audience. If a patron does suffer an accidental injury, may he hold the management legally liable?

To begin with, the management has a basic duty to maintain the premises in safe and orderly condition. Take this case:

HELD LIABLE

A drive-in had a special "KIDDY ZONE" where children could amuse themselves while their elders were watching the movie. On a roadway running alongside this zone, debris of all kinds was allowed to accumulate. One evening, the tire of a passing car hurled a bottle cap into the play area, striking a child in the eye.

In a court test, the theater was held liable for the child's injury. The judge pointed out that similar incidents in the past had given the management plenty of warning that the littered roadway was a source of danger.

Although Pound complained that she converted imagism into "Amygism," she did much to sponsor imagist poets and edited a number of anthologies.

Celebrated as a personality, she was eccentric in behavior, keeping a large troupe of dogs, smoking large black cigars and using language of extreme frankness.

Among her books of poetry are "Sword-Blades and Poppy Seed," "Men, Women and Ghosts," and "What's O'Clock." She died in 1925.

Others born today include Dean Rusk, President William Henry Harrison and Ronald Coleman.

DR. COLEMAN

.. And Speaking Of Your Health

Our friends, and even we, have noticed a distinctly unpleasant body odor in our 15-year-old daughter. No one else in the family has it. She uses underarm creams and sprays but these do not seem to be effective. Can a physical condition cause this? How can we help her?

Mrs. B.E., Kansas

Dear Mrs. E.: There truly are very few physical disorders responsible for unpleasant body odors. A general physical examination will rule out such a possibility.

We must come face to face with the reality that cleanliness and Dr. Coleman rigid hygiene are far more important in the control of bad body odor than underarm medications alone.

A group of apocrine glands are responsible for normal, healthy perspiration. Some bacteria seem to flourish on the secretion of these glands and produce bad body odor. There seems to be some advantage in controlling this by shaving underarm hair. Men, too, have benefited by cutting their hair shorter.

The most commonly overlooked reason for sustained body odor, even if cleanliness is observed, is the fact that clothes may be saturated with the odor. These should be thoroughly cleaned or even discarded to stop this embarrassing and sometimes socially destructive condition.

On rare occasions, some drugs and foods may be responsible for an odor, but this is usually distinctive from the foul characteristic smell which can pervade a room. A program of supervised cleanliness will undoubtedly help your daughter and avoid the social handicap that accompanies this condition.

Before my wife makes any family decision, even ones of minor importance, she consults an astrologist and then a palm reader. She even does this for medical problems. I don't believe in them and because of this, we pass from crisis to crisis. How do you feel about this nonsense?

Mr. H. B., Massachusetts

Dear Mr. B.: It is an accepted fact that it is impossible to win an argument that involves politics and religion. My advice is that we add palm reading and astrology to these "lost causes." I have tried to dissuade patients from both, only to find that a valuable relationship between us can be disturbed. So, in a mature way, I gave up and just let the enthusiasts for palm reading and astrology fulfill whatever their needs are in these vague and questionable "sciences."

My only plea to them, and also to your wife, is that medical decisions remain in the province of the well-trained physician rather than in the star-gazers.

BH Youth Held On 3 Charges

David Hunter, 19, of 234 Butternut road, Benton township, was arrested early Sunday after he allegedly stole some one-dollar bills from a cash register in the Gulf gas station at I-94 and M-139, Sodus township.

He was arrested on a charge of larceny from a building. He also was charged with forgery and possession of a stolen credit card. The card was owned by R. C. Ferguson of Eau Claire.

Berrien Sheriff Forrest "Nick" Jewell and Benton township Patrolman David Parsons were the first two officers to arrive at the station when attendant Larry Weber, 18, reported a robbery.

Deputy Fred E. Reeves, Jr., arrived next and got this story from the gas station attendant:

Weber was changing a tire for Hunter while Hunter waited inside the station. Weber went in and discovered the singles missing. He asked Hunter to give the money back and said he was going to call police.

Weber grabbed Hunter as he started to leave the station and money fell to the floor. Weber and a customer who came in the station at that time, held Hunter in custody until police arrived.

U.S. Marine Corps Service Officer Richard Close of Muskegon said he will be at the Vincent hotel in Benton Harbor from 1 to 4 p.m. Wednesday, to assist veterans and veterans' widows with service benefits.

He Claims Man Stole Newspaper

A distributor for the Detroit Free Press told St. Joseph police Saturday he would like to sign a complaint against a St. Joseph man who stole a 10-cent newspaper early Saturday.

Terry Lee Ellinger of Vicksburg told Patrolman Tom Burrows he saw a suspicious car when he dropped 15 newspapers off at Van's Pharmacy, 807 Napier avenue, about 5 a.m. The car was in an alley across the street.

Ellinger said he drove his truck around the block and parked. He then walked to where he could see the front of Van's pharmacy. He saw the car drive from the alley, stop in front of the store, and a man get out and take a newspaper, he said.

Assaulting An Officer Is Charged

BH Patrolman's Neck Is Grabbed During Arrest

Benton Harbor police arrested Roosevelt Grayson, 23, of 415½ North Fair avenue last night after he allegedly attempted to choke Patrolman Harry E. Wise, 22. Wise stopped a car after the driver failed to dim his lights.

Grayson was charged with assaulting a police officer and failing to dim his headlights.

Wise said Grayson refused to show any identification or get out of the car, when he was told he was under arrest. Wise reached in to pull Grayson out and Grayson allegedly grabbed him by the throat.

Grayson fled from the car and was later arrested at Winans street and Madison avenue by Patrolman Cyril Fuller.

Wise was treated at Benton Harbor Mercy hospital for scratches on the neck, and released.

Crow Holds State Is Denied Land Needed For Road

A Benton Harbor attorney representing the state Highway Department in the legal fight over the I-94 penetrator leg through St. Joseph township today scoffed at township claims it had won the latest round in the court maneuverings.

Atty. Henry Gleiss said the state Appeals Court notice issued Friday had not given the township what it wanted at all. SENT BACK

The Township, said Gleiss, sought to have the circuit court ruling overturned. All the notice did was to send the case back to the lower court for further action and label the appeal premature, he said.

Gleiss said the next move by the state had not yet been considered.

Left to the lower court to decide was the issue over whether the proposed condemnation involved an abuse of the state's discretionary powers or fraud, he said. The appeals court said it could not enter the case until this was done.

The lower court, presided over by Judge Nathan Kaufman, Detroit, ruled the land, dedicated to the township for public use, had not been used and could not be held as public ground and therefore could be taken.

The state Highway Department sought to condemn a 150 by 360 foot parcel off Trail Lane in the township for right-of-way use for the leg.

Township Atty. John Crow said Friday he considered the Appeals court notice a win in the latest round over the dispute. The court, he said, upheld the township's position that public land could not be condemned.

The proposed leg has been contested by the township since inception and the lawsuit over the condemnation was the latest move to block the development.

Under state plans, the penetrator is to drop southward from Washington at Hilltop to I-94. It would lie east of Washington.

Arson Cause Of Car Fire?

Benton township police said arson may have been the cause of a fire that destroyed the 1968 model car of Harvey Thompson, 818 Beechwood terrace, shortly after 4:30 a.m. today.

Officer Roger Peters said the fire appeared to have started near the left front wheel. Police found footprints leading from the burning car to where another auto had been parked in a nearby alley.

Township firemen were called to the scene.

Off-Duty Policeman Grabs Shooting Suspect

BH Man Suffers 3 Wounds

An off-duty Benton Harbor police detective was credited with capturing a man accused of shooting another man inside the East End Bar, 991 East Main street, Benton township early Sunday.

Township officers said Benton Harbor Det. Elmer Rhodes had the man in custody when they arrived and had disarmed him.

Rhodes had been sitting in the bar when the shooting occurred.

Reported in poor condition in Mercy hospital, Benton Harbor, with three bullet wounds was Zollie Smith, 25, of 132 Benton street, Benton Harbor. He was hit in the abdomen and both thighs by .25 caliber slugs.

MAN IN CUSTODY

In custody on a charge of felonious assault was Edward H. Labau, Jr., 27, of 371 Washington street, Benton Harbor.

Township Officers Roger Peters and Charles Brooks who investigated the shooting reported Smith was standing near the bar about 2:15 a.m. when shot. The assailant, said Peters, was standing 5 to 6 feet away. About 100 customers were also present.

The shooting resulted from an argument between the two, Peters said. No reason for the argument was determined.

Peters said possibly four shots were fired by the assailant. A .25 caliber automatic was turned over to township officers by Rhodes.

The shooting was the second in the township over the weekend.

Two persons were also hospitalized as the result of other assault cases reported late Saturday or early Sunday. Both victims were stabbed and both were reported in fair condition.

Two persons were wounded in in Mercy hospital also.

Benton Harbor police identified the two as Gerald Williams, 27, of 223 Bridgman street, Benton Harbor, and James Edwards, 16, of 770 Thresher avenue, Benton Harbor. A 16-year-old youth was arrested in connection with the Edwards case.

Two persons were wounded in the shooting reported to township authorities over the weekend. They were inside the Townline Bar, Townline Road at Dewey road, when shot. One of the two, Ernestine Hurst, 29, of 612 Broadway, remained hospitalized today. She was reported in fair condition in Mercy hospital.

Two men were taken into custody short time afterward.

Williams told Benton Harbor police he was at a party Saturday night when jumped by a man and stabbed three times in the back. He said he and the assailant had an argument about two months ago.

Edwards, after questioning by detectives, said he was stabbed while visiting a friend's home on Bronson avenue early Saturday night.

The friend, also 16-years-old, was petitioned to juvenile court on a complaint of assault with a deadly weapon, Det. Lt. Ronald Smith reported.

According to Smith, the stabbing apparently occurred while the two youths were involved in friendly horseplay.

When questioned by uniformed officers originally, Edwards said he was stabbed by an unknown person while walking through Hall park.

Township firemen were called to the scene.

John Gary Will Be Blossom Star

Singer-Actor Signed For Two Shows

One of the nation's leading singers of popular songs and finest new romantic actors of the day, John Gary, will star in a two-show engagement as part of the Blossomtime festival.

"The concert will be held prior to Blossom Week this year, on April 22, at St. Joseph high school auditorium," said James Blake, concert chairman. "So that everyone will have an opportunity to attend 'The John Gary Show' plus the added spectacular features on the hour-and-a-half show, two performances will be presented, at 7 and 9:30 p.m."

Gary has established himself as one of the nation's most successful recording artists and also as the host of his own television program, "The John Gary Show."

Gary began a singing career motion pictures at the age of 14. The career proved to be short-lived when, like the nightmare that haunts all child performers-singers, he lost his boy soprano voice while singing on stage to Marie Wilson. He then rebounded to greater

CASS VOTES NEXT MONDAY ON SCHOOL LEVY

Hartford Plans Vote On Middle School

Election On Millage Also Due

Citizens' Committee Says 'Forge Ahead'

HARTFORD — Hartford school district residents may vote on a bonding proposition for a middle school sometime next summer.

They definitely will vote before then on an operating millage proposition.

Schools Superintendent Gary Waterkamp outlined general plans on both fronts. He said a citizens advisory committee this week decided to forge ahead with detailed plans for a middle school.

Waterkamp reminded that an 8-mill operating levy, approved last August for one year, expired with December tax collections. This, said Waterkamp, must at least be renewed and more mills could be requested by the school board.

TAXES REMAINING

With the eight mills lapsing, the district now has four extra voted mills which have one more year to run, 8.88 allocated mills, 4½ mills for debt retirement and one mill for a building and site fund. Each mill brings in about $18,000 here.

Waterkamp said the millage vote probably will be during the regular June school election.

He said a bonding issue, originally planned for this month but rebuffed by the State Department of Education, could be held later in the summer. Waterkamp added that a summer date is his rough estimate.

A citizens committee, headed by Lee Vaught, elementary school coordinator, and Mrs. Esther Richmond, a housewife, met Monday and decided to draft plans it hopes the state can accept.

The state last month urged the school district here and in Lawrence to try for another merger. This was rejected by the Hartford school board, convinced that after two failures at the polls, a third try would be fruitless.

Waterkamp said the state suggested more detailed plans for a middle school than were originally submitted and also wanted a complete document on what kind of education the school would provide.

COULD BE MORE

Original plans called for a bonding proposition of $2,390,000. Waterkamp said the new plans could run as much, or even more.

Asked why the state rejected original plans, Waterkamp said they didn't show enough detail. For example, he said, guidance and counseling rooms were not labeled in plans, but were included under a general "central offices" title. Waterkamp said that while special education was to be included in the building, the plans did not specify special education rooms.

The new plans, like the former, will call for a school to house about 600 students in grades five through eight, said Waterkamp.

He said the 15-member citizens' committee will meet regularly.

IN MOTHER'S FOOTSTEPS: Jack Van Antwerp, Benton Harbor, head of 1970 Easter Seal campaign in Berrien county, has plenty of tradition to follow in his work for physically handicapped. His mother, Mrs. L. E. Van Antwerp, 3618 Lake Shore drive, St. Joseph, has been active at county, state and national levels of Crippled Children's society for over 25 years. Her husband is retired Benton Harbor pharmacist.

Tradition Upheld By VanAntwerps

Member Of Family Again Heads Easter Drive

Jack Van Antwerp, general chairman of the 1970 Easter Seal campaign in Berrien county, continues a family tradition of involvement with the county and state physically handicapped.

His mother, Mrs. L. E. VanAntwerp, has been a member of the board of the Berrien County Society for Crippled Children since 1954, as well as past president of the Michigan Society for Crippled Children and Adults and past trustee of the national society.

VanAntwerp, who was also general chairman of the successful 1969 Easter Seal campaign, announced the campaign dates this year as February 23 thru Easter Sunday, March 29.

$16,500 GOAL

The goal of $16,500 will help to continue, and to expand where necessary, the services of the Berrien County Society for Crippled Children to all four sons.

SCORE Falling Short Of Target

Federal Agency Can Give Business Counseling

SCORE wants to help more in Berrien county but finds that its services are being sought less.

SCORE (Service Corps of Retired Executives) provides free counseling to small businesses without charge. It answered 44 per cent more calls for assistance in Michigan last year than in 1968.

But Berrien county was one of three major counties in the state to show a decline. About 40 per cent fewer businesses in Berrien sought services of SCORE, the agency had no explanation for the decline, other than to say its ready and willing.

Sponsored by the U.S. Small Business Administration, Score is composed of 48 counselors who serve without compensation. Their careers have ranged from top management, accounting, marketing, law and retailing.

SCORE's headquarters are 1240 Book Building, Detroit.

1½ Mills Sought For Handicaps

Special Education Program Operates $45,000 In Red

CASSOPOLIS — Cass county residents will vote next Monday on a one mill proposition to help finance the county's special education program.

The program has been financed locally on a half-mill levy since 1959 when it began under the auspices of the Lewis Cass intermediate school district. Approval would boost the tax levy for the program from one-half to 1½ mills. The 1½ mills would bring in about $150,000 a year.

Miss Mary Lou Corbit, intermediate school superintendent, reported on the figures and added that during the past year, the special education program operated about $45,000 in the red.

The program currently utilizes 14 instructors and serves some 600 physically and mentally handicapped youngsters in the county's four high school districts.

Polls will open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. at nine polling places, as follows:

Dowagiac Union Schools
Precinct 1, Central junior high school for Dowagiac city voters.

Precinct 2, Sister Lakes school for Keeler township, Keeler village, and Bainbridge township voters of the district.

Precinct 3, Patrick Hamilton school for Pokagon and Berrien township voters of the district.

Precinct 4, Silver Creek township hall for Silver Creek and Pipistone township voters of the district.

Precinct 5, Central junior high, Dowagiac, for Wayne, LaGrange, and Volinia township voters of the district.

Precinct 6, Central junior high, Dowagiac, for Calumet, Penn, Newberg and Porter township voters of the district.

Cassopolis Public Schools
Precinct 1, Fred Russ gym, Cassopolis, for LaGrange, Howard, Jefferson, Pokagon and Wayne township voters of the district.

Precinct 2, Vandalia school for Calvin, Penn, Newberg and Porter township voters of the district.

All voters in the Marcellus school district will ballot at Hudson Memorial building, Marcellus; while those in the Edwardsburg school district will ballot in room 110 of Edwardsburg high school.

Mrs. Corbit said the program started here in 1959 has grown to the point where some 600 mentally and physically handicapped youngsters are served. Cited also are steadily rising costs, including salaries.

The program now uses 14 teachers. It has six rooms for youngsters who must learn with half or four-fifths of a normal child's talents, said Mrs. Corbit.

She added the similarly handicapped children now are struggling in regular classrooms, because the special education cannot handle them now.

Mrs. Corbit said there are two classes of children who learn at less than half the rate of normal children in the trainable program, while still others who could be helped by special education, now are at home, because of a lack of teaching materials. Classrooms, however, are available if funds can be obtained, said Mrs. Corbit.

Mrs. Corbit said the $1.50 per $1,000 state equalized property value that the total 1½ mills would produce, could be broken down like this:

County trainable classrooms, 13 cents; educable classrooms, 75 cents; psychological services, 12 cents; speech therapy, 22 cents; homebound and hospitalized students aid, six cents; school social workers, eight cents; and consultants for mentally handicapped 14 cents.

Snowmobile Riders Hurt In Allegan

Three Separate Mishaps Nearly Identical

FENNVILLE — The Allegan county Sheriff's department investigated three similar snowmobile accidents over the weekend in which one person in each accident received a back injury.

Deputies received a call Saturday at 10:30 p.m. that a snowmobile accident had occurred on the pipeline at 58th street, five miles south of Fennewill.

HITS BUMP

Deputies said the accident occurred one-quarter mile from the nearest road and the injured woman had to be carried on a stretcher to the road. The accident occurred when a snowmobile driven by Richard Pearson, 27, New Buffalo, hit a bump and his passenger, Barbara Fry, 25, Bloomingdale, was thrown from the vehicle.

She was taken to the Allegan Health Center, where she was listed in satisfactory condition today with a cracked vertebra.

Sunday at 7:30 p.m., deputies investigated a snowmobile accident on the William Brede farm, route 1, Hamilton. Deputies said Brede was driving a snowmobile when it hit a bump and he was thrown from the vehicle. Deputies said Brede hit his back when he was thrown. Brede was taken to Holland hospital, where he was x-rayed and released.

Boy Drowns In UP River

GLADSTONE (AP) — A six-year-old Bark River boy was killed Sunday when he fell through thin ice and drowned in the Escanaba River in Gladstone in the Upper Peninsula's Baldwin County.

The victim was identified as David Swift, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Swift. State Police worked into the evening Sunday in an attempt to recover the body.

Van Buren Will Add 3 To Board

Building Authority Newly Incorporated

PAW PAW — Three members of the newly-created five-member building authority in Van Buren county are scheduled to be appointed when the county commissioners meet here Tuesday.

Discussion of candidates for the authority is expected to come at about 1:30 p.m. The commissioners meet at the courthouse.

The articles of incorporation designate the county treasurer and the county tax equalization director, as two members of the building authority. The officers presently are A.A. Smith and Gene Kays, respectively.

County commissioners are expected to appoint the other three members Tuesday.

The first duty of the building authority will be to consider the feasibility of the construction of quarters for the county health department.

But, according to the articles of incorporation, the building authority will not be limited to that project.

KILLED IN CRASH

DETROIT (AP) — James R. Hopkins, 22, of Detroit, was injured fatally today when his car went out of control in Detroit and struck a utility pole.

The two men arrested were cornered on land near Brush lake, deputies reported. The three were to be arraigned today in Fourth District court.

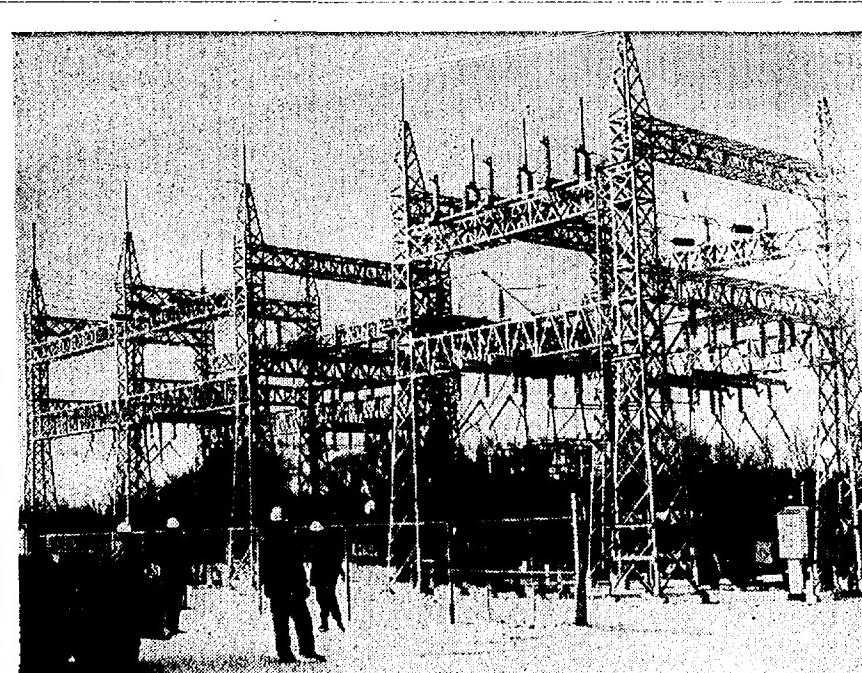

Student Faces Drug Charge

ALLEGAN — Allegan county sheriff's officers said Michael R. Bull, 22, of Ballston Lake, N.Y., was jailed here when he failed to post a $1,000 bond after his arrest Friday on a charge of possession of hypnotic drugs.

Officers said that Bull, a Hope college senior, was arrested Friday on a warrant when he tried to pick up an auto that had been impounded. He was to be arraigned today in district court here.

Officers said the auto Friday was found abandoned in a snowdrift in Overisel township about two miles south of Holland. Officers said pills found on the floorboards were identified at the state police crime laboratory in East Lansing as amphetamines and barbiturates. Officers impounded the auto. A warrant was authorized by the Allegan county prosecutor's office, said deputies.

substATION ACTIVATED: Michigan Power Co. has activated this new $1,300,000 Almena substation just east of Paw Paw in Van Buren county to handle anticipated population increases, said R. W. Sampson, utility firm vice president. Dual function substation is on Almena road near I-94. Sampson said functions include service as input point for transmission lines feeding electricity to the Lawton, Bloomingdale and Gobles areas and as distribution system in and around Paw Paw. Substation was activated last Thursday. (Eva McKee photo)

Radicals Called Most Patriotic

DETROIT (AP) — The most patriotic people in the country today are members of the peace movement, the Black Panthers and certain left-wing groups, the Rev. Jesse Jackson, economic director of the Southern Christian Leadership Council, told a Detroit audience Sunday.

"America wants Democrats, but not democracy," said Jackson, the director of the self-help Operation Breadbasket in Chicago. "America has come over to Christianity, but not to Christ."

"The most patriotic people in America today are the peace movement, the Panthers and certain left-wing groups," Jackson added.

NIXON CRITICIZED

Jackson was harsh on President Nixon, to whom he referred as "Pharoah."

"He's not just mean, he's perverted," he said. "Pharoah Nixon has redistributed the welfare stations instead of redistributing the wealth."

Jackson, who called himself "just a country preacher," spoke as part of a lecture series on "Areas of Hope in a Divided World" at Wayne State University.

Another speaker in the program, Fayette, Miss., Mayor Charles Evers, said Sunday that the four southern governors who have pledged to resist court-ordered school desegregation "should be arrested for defiance of the law."
